The Forest Gene Conservation Strategy was initiated by the Forestry Administration, in collaboration with the DANIDA supported Cambodia Tree Seed Project.

It reflects the work of a number of individuals from a range of diverse institutions and backgrounds. Special thanks are due to the cross-sectoral Working Group, whose efforts form the basis of this document, and key resource people who have added valuable inputs at various stages of development of the Forest Gene Conservation Strategy, in particular, Mr. Chea Sam Ang, Deputy Director of the Forestry Administration and Project Chief, Mr. So Thea, Project Manager, Mr. Chheang Dany, Officer, and Mr. Arvid Sloth, Project Advisor.

The output of the Working Group was compiled and complemented by relevant information from a range of secondary sources by Ms. Sarah Burgess, Consultant.

Technical advice and verification was provided throughout the development of the Forest Gene Conservation Strategy by Dr. Ida Theilade, of DANIDA's Forest Seed Centre.
